NewsWire is a Windows application that makes it easy to automate the creation of news wires and RSS feeds based on news from multiple sources. The system automatically converts news reports, blogs, and web pages into a single XML news wire format or RSS feed. All that is required is a news source. NewsWire lets you create news wires from a number of news sources including RSS feeds, web pages, mailing lists, news databases, news services, and news feeds. NewsWire also lets you create news wires from the social news streams (Twitter, Flickr, etc.) and multimedia files such as RSS, MP3, etc. The system also automatically creates RSS feeds for blogs and news sources you specify and displays them on a news site. You can add images, videos, and sounds to the news wire, customize the system's appearance, and output the final XML to a variety of formats including RSS, Atom, and WML. The NewsWire automated newswire creation tool is easy to use and requires little or no editing. Using a news database of nearly any size and a news source, your news wire is created instantly. With NewsWire you can quickly and easily create new news wires, build personalized news feeds for your clients and other subscribers, or create RSS feeds of any type of content, regardless of source. You can create XML feeds from multiple news sources and import XML feeds directly into news sites such as your own or blogs such as Bloglines, liveJournal, and other.
