"The scope of review is broader where an evidentiary hearing is granted as compared with one denied." Makuc, supra, 543 F.2d at 735. We must examine "the character of the objections presented at trial." Id. We "give wide latitude to counsel's trial presentation, even to the point of tolerating errors that otherwise would have warranted reversal." Id. Thus, we have also held that counsel's "gross incompetence and inexcusable neglect" did not constitute "cause" for procedural default. Jones v. Wainwright, 575 F.2d 603, 603-04 (5th Cir.1978). 12 During the guilt phase of trial, the only objection by counsel to the introduction of Williams' confessions was a general objection based on hearsay. Counsel renewed the objection during the punishment phase. At the punishment phase, counsel objected only to the introduction of an allegedly inadmissible extraneous offense. Thus, counsel failed to preserve error for review as to the admissibility of the confession, and it is reviewable only for plain error. See United States v. Washington, 797 F.2d 1461, 1476 (9th Cir.1986), cert. denied, 479 U.S. 1058, 107 S.Ct. 938, 93 L.Ed.2d 989 (1987); United States v. Odom, 736 F.2d 104, 106 (4th Cir.1984); United States v. Davis, 771 F.2d 211, 217 (8th Cir.1985). 13 A confession is admissible as substantive evidence,
