If I select a textarea inside a form, and then select the last text in the text area an add button... If I open the page in IE8 or IE8 compatibility view the problem disappears. lorem Ipsum Does anyone know of a solution to this problem? A: I had a similar problem with IE9 Chrome style popup that won't close automatically once the text was copied from the control and pasted outside. This solution works: Basically, you need to catch the paste event and after it's fired, you close the autocomplete div. A: I'm not sure about the OP's problem, but a workaround (I'm not sure if it's the cause, but it solves the problem) is to add an onchange handler to the textarea, and remove the change event from the submit button. so for example: lorem Ipsum You can remove the submit button from the form, if you don't want the submit button to work. It has been known for a long time that various dyes which absorb electromagnetic radiation, in particular at a wavelength of 650 nm or more can be used in the field of laser treatment
