I have a collection with millions of records. I want to query only records that match one field but only by value of the indexed field. Something like this: SELECT * FROM mytable WHERE indexedField = 'value' This query do not work, of course. I only have access to Hibernate API, not to the JDBC. I know that I could do it by looping and checking every record but the number of records is large enough to be a problem. Maybe using maps/set/list could help but I have no idea how to do this. A: It works and I have test it with real database! Query query = sessionFactory.getCurrentSession().createQuery("SELECT mytable FROM mytable where indexedField = :indexedField"); query.setParameter("indexedField", indexedField); List list = (List) query.list(); Current and future utility of histology in dermatopathology. Histopathology is regarded as a "gold standard" in the diagnosis of many skin disorders, yet in recent years it has been recognized that new, less costly and often less traumatic biopsy modalities can be used. Use of these biopsy techniques depends on the accuracy of the dermatopathologist in interpreting, and the clinical decision-making skills of the ordering physician. The purpose of this article is to review the current and future utility of histopathology in dermatopathology.Q: Mismatch in return type of DTO constructor from stored procedure Consider the following class: public class MyDTO { public int Id { get; set; } public int SomeValue { get; set; } } Which is then supposed to be converted into a DTO using the following stored procedure: CREATE PROCEDURE [dbo].[mystoredprocedure] @SomeID int AS BEGIN DECLARE @id int, SELECT @id = id FROM dbo.MyTable
