Recover deleted files FlashBack is the best and most secure way to recover deleted files from Windows and Mac OS. If you accidentally lost some files you need, including documents, videos, pictures, music and more, FlashBack provides a solution to help you recover those files back to your computer. What's more, if you want to protect your private information, you can choose to keep your recovered files as private. The recovered files are converted to a zip format, and FlashBack makes sure to encrypt them before they are sent back to you. Features: Multi-drive recovery FlashBack can recover files from a computer with multiple drives. This function is new, and allows FlashBack to recover files from all drives. It is really easy to use. Preview recovered files After the recovery process is completed, FlashBack displays the recovered files in a special window, so you can preview the contents. Secure way to recover When you recover files from your drive, FlashBack encrypts them first, so you can keep your recovered files private. You can also recover multiple files in a single ZIP file, so you can find and save the recovered files at any time later. Print recovered files If you are going to recover a large number of files from your drive, you may need to print them, to keep them organized. If you want to recover files from your flash drive, for example, you can print out the recovered files for easy storage. Preview and restore FlashBack settings You can preview the recovered files and restore

FlashBack settings as the default settings, so you can resume your computer exactly the same way you left it. Export recovered files in file size Export recovered files in JPEG, PNG or BMP formats, so you can choose the size of them you want. You can also convert your recovered files to PDF or HTML. Recover multiple files If you recovered only one file from your drive, you may have to repeat browser tool for the Mac OS X. In other words, you can use it to return yourself to a particular page you visited at any time you like. It automatically saves the changes you make to the web page you are viewing, and creates a new, complete Web History with each new session. While this tool is not as powerful as CyberDuck, it does allow you to bookmark and share URL's. As an alternative, CyberDuck is a popular alternative tool that provides similar features at a lower price. CyberDuck

Description: CyberDuck is a fast and easy way to access your sites in a browser on Mac. Unlike its competitors, it allows you to open multiple Web URLs at a time, and it has optional anti-phishing protection.

Description: Sorting and Bookmarking for the user. Fireup will bookmark all your favorite Web sites directly from the Mac's system browser without any software required. Just as a computer security application, Fireup also intercepts Web pages from potentially malicious, malicious, or dangerous sites and warns you before you have become a victim of a virus or phishing attack. Nuke is a popular content management platform for Web sites. Nuke is a very popular platform for building and managing Web sites for some people. Nuke is also used as a framework for CMS (Content Management System). Aside from the fact that Nuke can be used as a standalone application, Nuke can also be used as a CMS platform. Description: Nuke is a popular content management platform for Web sites. Nuke is also used as a framework for CMS (Content Management System). Nuclip is a basic but useful utility designed to serve as a clipboard manager on the Mac. Nuclip can hold up to 50 clips. With a few clicks, you can insert a clip in any application. It automatically sorts the clips into categories. You can also select or deselect multiple clips. It's fast, efficient, and easy to use. All the clips you drag into Nuclip are automatically saved on the clipboard, and all of them are immediately available when you need to paste them into another application. Description: Clipboard manager for clipboard. Nine will allow you to mount any application in tiled format and allows you to create and share your own virtual file systems. But, unlike other virtual file systems, the viewable files on Nine are applications or Documents, and not files or 09e8f5149f FlashBack is a free utility that prevents your computer from being automatically configured after you logoff or turn off your computer. FlashBack works when you log off or turn off your computer.
