Sometimes it's easy to forget, use MyWeekly to keep you on top of things and... ...MS Excel of how to calculate EAV (Enterprise AssetValue) and EAF (Enterprise AssetFactor). The project is to calculate the Enterprise AssetValue and Enterprise AssetFactor. This is how EnterpriseAssetValue & EnterpriseAssetFactor are defined in the Wikipedia. enterpriseassetvalue = enterprise assets (such as inventory, buildings, vehicles) / enterprise customer assets (such as customer accounts and customer transactions) enterpriseassetfactor = enterprise asset value / enterprise customer asset value I have 2 sheets in Excel. Here you can download the Excel file for the EnterpriseAssetValue and EnterpriseAssetFactor. enterpriseassetvalue.xlsx enterpriseassetfactor.xlsx I am stuck in calculating the EnterpriseAssetValue and EnterpriseAssetFactor. I will provide you with my own calculation and how you should calculate it. I will also post the Excel file with the formula to calculate EAV and EAF (EnterpriseAssetValue and EnterpriseAssetFactor). If I have not provided you with enough information, please let me know. Thank you. [metasfresh.com] Hi, I'm a researcher for a research institute, and in that research we need to measure an asset value in order to evaluate the end of the research. We already have a way of measuring the value of the asset, but we have some questions. How do you define "value"? How do you define the "depreciation rate"? How do you calculate the "periodical depreciation"? We're using Excel to calculate all these values. ... We are looking for an excel based software, developed in PHP, Java, and Javascript that can calculate value and depreciation and provides a graph of the same. We would also like to include the functionality for periodic depreciation. Note: The software must be able to recalculate periodically, and should support many different types of assets (fixed asset, inventory,...) and different type of depreciation (capital,...) 5. The software should be able to generate the value chart and the depreciation chart as well as generate other charts, that are related to the value and the

Simple and easy to use interface so that you can be better organized and get more done in your week. Sometimes it's easy to forget, use MyWeekly to keep you on top of things and Here are some key features of "MyWeekly": ⮚ Quick notes, reminders, tasks, etc. ⮚ Simple and easy to use interface. ⮚ Organize better.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to a portable personal watercraft that is easily accessible for carrying passengers or for fishing. 2. Description of the Related Art Various types of personal watercraft have been designed to be used for racing, fishing and other leisure activities. Such personal watercraft typically include a generally flat bottom hull having a V-shaped hydrofoil at the rear end thereof. A rider sits on a seat mounted to a transom extending forward from the V-shaped hydrofoil. The V-shaped hydrofoil is used to generate an upward lifting force on the hull to create lift. The lift allows the rider to have a speed of travel that is greater than a conventional boat. To facilitate fishing, the sport of kayaking has been adapted to personal watercraft. Kayaking involves paddling a kayak. To facilitate fishing, an attachment structure has been developed that is mounted to the bottom surface of a personal watercraft and extends downwardly into the water when the personal watercraft is in operation. The attachment structure attaches to a fishing line, and enables a fishing line to be extended and reeled out of the water. However, when the personal watercraft is not in use, the attachment structure is typically accessible by the rider. The rider may, for example, access the attachment structure when he/she desires to fish. Alternatively, the attachment structure may become accessible to a passenger, who may access the attachment structure for playing, or when the rider and passenger are fishing, or when the rider is taking the personal watercraft to a lake, and wishes to take passengers with him/her. Accordingly, the attachment structure may become easily accessible by the rider or passengers. The area around the attachment structure may become cluttered with hooks, lures and other items that are used to fish. The area around the attachment structure may become cluttered with rope, electrical cords, attachments and other fishing gear. Further, the attachment structure may become cluttered with personal belongings, such as fishing rods, lures, clothing and other items, such that the rider or passengers may be forced to constantly move the attachment structure to obtain access to the items stored thereon. The attachment structure of a personal watercraft may be manufactured from a metal material, for example, steel or aluminum. The attachment structure has sharp edges, and may thus cut and damage objects that contact the attachment structure.(CNN) The current political situation is at the core of how women in the
